

Andrew Sneddon

Extent

Biography

Andrew has worked in cultural heritage management for over 25 years. He has prepared assessments and management plans for heritage places of local, State, National, Commonwealth and World heritage significance including Fremantle Prison, the Sydney Opera House and Old Parliament House (Canberra). Andrew has extensive practical archaeological experience, both in Australia and abroad. He has assisted with several native title claims, and consults regularly with Indigenous people on cultural heritage management. He has specialist knowledge in heritage law.