

Emma Clinton
Bayside Council

Biography

Emma is a Senior Strategic Planner at Bayside Council who has recently completed a Master of Philosophy in housing research at the University of New South Wales. Emma's research focuses on emerging housing typologies and the lived experience of occupants. Through an evidence-based understanding of the occupant experience, Emma seeks to ensure that planning policy supports the delivery of people-centred housing. Emma is the previous recipient of a PIA National Award for her research.