

Julia Miller-Randle
Ethos Urban

Biography

Julia is a versatile planner whose interests lie at the interface between planning, social planning and urban design.

Julia has a broad range of experience in metropolitan and rural contexts undertaking projects to support community growth and change. She has experience in strategic planning, policy development, community infrastructure planning, social research and community and stakeholder engagement.

She is passionate making our cities inclusive, engaging and sustainable places for all.