

Meredith Hutton
Milford Planning

Biography

Meredith Hutton is a town planner at Milford Planning, having recently completed her Masters of Tropical Urban and Regional Planning at James Cook University. She has developed a keen interest in commercial and industrial development, drawing from her extensive business experience to take a holistic approach to supporting clients on planning matters. Meredith holds a double Bachelor's degree in Business and Commerce and has particular interest in promoting sustainable planning objectives that yield both social and economic returns.