

Oscar Stanish
Architectus

Biography

Oscar Stanish has 12 years of experience across the interface between strategic urban design and planning. Oscar's passion is for delivering great outcomes with clear links from planning and urban design strategy through to design and delivery.

Alice Stroemstedt is a champion for collaboration, bringing planning and urban design closer together. Passionate about shaping the positive perception of the planning profession, she was awarded 2017 NSW Young Planner of the Year and is Managing Editor of New Planner Journal