

Malcolm Griffin
PSA Consulting Australia

Biography

Malcolm is highly experienced in delivering planning projects and programs with over 28 years professional practice. While involved in a wide range of projects a motivation throughout his career has been the opportunity to work on projects which materially improve people's lives. His career has provided opportunities to work on many such projects. Specifically in terms of planning with indigenous communities he worked on different projects with the Quandamooka people of North Stradbroke Island / Minjerribah over a 20 year period.

He first worked on the Native Title Process Agreement signed between Redland Shire Council and the Quandamooka people in the mid 90's and then following that ongoing projects in response to Quandamooka Native title determinations. The role of planning to enable traditional owners to access to their land is a foundational element underpinning Malcolm's approach of working with the Quandamooka people.

He is a Registered Planning Professional, was awarded the Queensland Planner of the Year 2017 and is Managing Director of PSA Consulting an integrated land use and transport planning firm.
