

Kate Greenwood
Greenwood Consultancy

Biography

Kate Greenwood is a Cultural Heritage Consultant and Archaeologist who has been working with Traditional Owners just shy of twenty years. Kate has a background in cultural heritage and natural resource management, strategic planning and research.

Kate's post-graduate qualifications in archaeology and heritage management are coupled with extensive field experience on a variety of Aboriginal Cultural Heritage projects with Traditional Owners in South East Queensland. Kate has previously worked in local government as a Development Assessment Planner and as a Strategic Planner.

Currently, Kate is working in land-use planning and is also tutoring and lecturing at the University of the Sunshine Coast. Kate is also currently the Queensland State Representative for the Australian Archaeology Association.